Why Low-Code Application Development Could be your Best Bet !

500 Million

Digital Apps and Services will be developed and deployed using Cloud-Native Approaches by 2023 driving Industry Apps Explosion. This number is same as the number of Apps developed in the last 40 years. - IDC of enterprises have turned toward Low-Code for its ability to reduce strain on IT resources, increase speed-to-market, and involve the business in digital asset development. - Forrester Consulting
84%

3 Months or Less

is the time taken by developers to develop Applications with a Low-Code Platform - Mendix

24%

of Mendix Low-Code users had 0 programming experience - Mendix

With Low-Code, innovative apps can be delivered 10x faster and organizations can turn on a dime, adapting their systems at the speed of business," - Paulo Rosado, CEO at OutSystems.

>65%

By 2024, Low-Code application development will be responsible for more than 65% of application development activity. - Gartner of enterprises using Low-Code to run top applications say they turn to Low-Code because it is the most flexible option. – Forrester Consulting Study - 2018

64%

Sounds Interesting? Want to know more about XTGlobal's Low-Code Application Development with Mendix?

Yes, Tell Me More!